

ARKANSAS WOMEN AND POLITICS

CENTER FOR ARKANSAS
HISTORY AND CULTURE
UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS AT LITTLE ROCK

Arkansas Women and Politics

Photo 1: Protestors for women's suffrage drive by the 200 block of Main Street in Little Rock, ca. 1912-1913 (Calvin Hanna Collection, ca. 1877-1950)

ARKANSAS WOMEN AND POLITICS

Photo 2: Mrs. Frances Hunt of Pine Bluff (right) and Miss Erle Chambers of Little Rock (left) walk down a street. They were Arkansas's first two female legislators, 1923 (Women in Arkansas photograph collection, ca. 1850s-1980s)

ARKANSAS WOMEN AND POLITICS

Photo 3: Mayor and members of the city council in Winslow, Arkansas, pose for a group portrait. Elected in 1925, they were nicknamed “the petticoat government.” Seated is Mayor Virginia Maud Dunlap Duncan. She was also the editor and publisher of Winslow American and the city’s only registered pharmacist. The other council members are Lyda Cole, Florence Marley, Audie Crider, Bee Chervery, Daisy Miller, Etta Black, Martin Winn, Virginia C. Dunlap, and Stella Winn, 1925 (Women in Arkansas photograph collection, ca. 1850s-1980s)